

Servoclean, Michael Walk

Von: Chris [REDACTED].com]
Gesendet: Mittwoch, 5. Dezember 2007 17:24
An: Michael Walk (E-Mail)
Cc:
Betreff: RE: Cleanius

Hi Michael,

I'd be delighted to write you a reference. It is as follows:

I had an industrial accident which involved falling from a roof 10m high. My injuries included broken pelvis in four places, broken lumbar vertebrae in three places, all ribs on left hand side broken, one rib on right hand side broken, trauma to the lower abdomen, punctured left lung and comprehensive compound fracture of the left arm. When recovering in hospital, I had to remain lying down in bed; however the bedpan which the NHS uses is not fit for all purposes. They have a solid plastic edge, which cuts into your backbone and pelvis when in use. For someone with a lower skeletal injury, this is extremely painful and results in many associated problems. In order to remedy the situation, I searched online and found Cleanius. I ordered the Cleanius Eco, paid for it via Paypal and it arrived in England within a week from Germany. Using the Cleanius was a great improvement over the NHS bedpan for me, as my lower skeletal injuries were made painless when using it. I could stay on for longer and be in comfort. I would recommend Cleanius to everyone in general and those with lower skeletal injuries in particular. It helped me to a quicker recovery.

Regards,

Chris